EXPORTS TO AUSTRIA CONTINUE -- New York, Riportok es Hirek Magyarorszagrol,
25 Nov 50

The 28 October issue of the pro-Communist newspaper Osterreichische Zeitung contains an article entitled "Lies of the Csepel Market," which attempts to prove that Hungarians are not going hungry. The paper's Communist reporter, who visited the market, writes of the great quantities of stores and lists Hungarian exports to the Soviet Zone of Austria during the first 6 months of 1950.

The export figures are: 5,505,500 kilograms of live animals, 1,846,200 kilograms of sugar, 789,750 kilograms of rice, 485,200 kilograms of vegetables, and 6,064,900 kilograms of sausage, totaling 17,447,300 kilograms of foodstuffs valued at 79,836,00 shillings.

Although no rice is to be seen in the shops, 800 tons were shipped to Austria. It is added that exports to Austria will be increased considerably during the second half of 1950. These are very significant figures, since under Soviet pressure the Hungarian government must increasingly favor the Soviet zones of Austria and Germany.
